

CHAPTER 28

The rattle of a heavy duty chain along with a rumbling growl, did equal up to a beastly canine presence; and not some cute ass little domestic house pet, the one behind me had to be of a weight class that was rather immense

Slow and steadily- I twisted my head and neck to a sight that terrified me; 'twas a monstrous Rottweiler, with a neck bulkier than the trunk of a tree

“Gu- gu- gu- good- boy”, I did gently croon between our space, as it flashed its sharp teeth intimidatingly within my face; then immediately began viciously barking out, while lunge- lunge- lunging forward- at an anxious and overactive pace

Back into the fence- I did fall, with both knees pulled to my chest- close and tightly balled; barely keeping myself from its grasp, less than an inch from having my black ass mauled

Fortunately for me- the thick chain that did bind the beast to a pole, solely prevented more slack for its wanton attack; yet- made it damn near impossible for me to safely get up from my curled shrimp position, down on my neck- and my back

Though the dog seemed firmly chained, it fought high and low to hit me with a swinging blow; making such a loud ruckus, that a light *'FLICK'*ed on within a near bedroom window

Upon spotting me out back, a fat man in drawers reached down and came back up with a twelve gauge that he readied with a 'CLACK'- 'CLACK'; which instantly motivated me to escape my predicament, by turning sideways and rolling up off of my back

In my muddy socks- I made the ascent, just as the beast's beast's pole became slightly bent; giving it the striking length to drive me backwards against the fence, backwards- 'til pent

Next thing I spotted through the window was a giant pair of chocolate double-D tits rising up from out of a bedspread; which made me instantly realize that I had interrupted the cat, while getting himself a shot of that late-night head

The situation- you see, stuck between a roc and a hard place- literally; but when that back door kicked open- I flew, before the man could buckshot riddle me

.....YA DIGG!